

twenty-eighth man called. He was sworn only on the five books of Moses, as he objected to accepting the entire Bible for that purpose. He failed to give satisfaction being opposed to capital punishment for women, and was permitted to retire. The next called was Samuel H. Garber and he proved the last to answer the summons. He was 70 years old, with white hair. It was 11:15 o'clock when Dist. Atty. Baker announced the government's satisfaction with the jury. Mr. Houves responded for the defense with a similar statement and the prisoner gazed at the 12 men who are to determine her fate.

BROTHER'S ADVERSE WITNESSES

Judge William H. King and Samuel A. King, both prominent lawyers of this state and brothers, leave today for Washington as witnesses in the case against Mrs. Anna Bradley. Judge King goes as a witness for the prosecution and Samuel King will testify for the defense. Judge William H. King has been a friend and adviser of Senator Brown, Mrs. Bradley's victim, during the time of his troubles in the Utah courts. Samuel King was identified with the other side of the case here and his sympathies are called with the women in the case.

SAYS CHINAMAN DRUGGED AND KIDNAPED HER.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 14.—Under the influence of some powerful drug, Mrs. W. L. Reese, wife of a wealthy boiler manufacturer of Altoona, was found by the police in company with Al Sing Dean, a Chinese, yesterday, who had been a member of her household since she and her husband had kidnapped, her, she said.

Mrs. Reese and her mother were at home at their home when Dean called. At first Mrs. Reese refused to speak to him, but after a few words he encouraged her to talk. He said that the Americans wished for opium some little crystals which the Chinese frequently took as an appetizer. He offered to buy the opium, but Mrs. Reese at first hesitated until she saw the Chinese apparently swallow one. Mrs. Reese says she remembers but little of what happened.

It is believed that Dean wanted to hold her for ransom.

"My present plight," subbed Mrs. Reese, "is probably the culmination of a lifetime's work and too much time on my hands."

As a member of the First Lutheran church of Altoona, I took interest in the mission for Chinese, and became one of the leaders.

Mr. Reese took his wife back to Altoona last night. Al Sing Dean was taken back manacled to be tried for abduction.

HUGH JOHNSON'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Hugh Johnson of Cesar Creek, was held this morning, from S. D. Evans' chapel, under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias, of which order he deceased was a member. The interment was made at Mt. Olivet Cemetery, miners were taken with pneumonia in Nevada and brought to this city Sunday night for treatment, but too late.

LATE LOCALS.

Continues to Improve—Prest. Angus M. Cannon continues to improve in the Dixie country.

Bell Company Loses—The Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company lost 400 feet of cable by the Redman fire, causing a loss of $600. The cable had just been put up.

Richfield Gets Company—Richfield Sevier county, is to have a company of the First Infantry, N. G. U., with 51 men. This will make the seventh company command, with others yet to follow.

Governor in Provo—Gov. John C. Cutler, Treasurer James Christensen and Auditor J. A. Edwards are at Provo today attending a meeting of the state mental hospital board, of which they are members.

Meeting Tonight—A meeting of the board of public works will be held tomorrow evening, at which time bids will be received for the building of a pump house for the intersecting sewer, as also bids for the putting in of a pipe line for the same system.

Drop in Bank Clearings—Today's local bank clearings amounted to $621,551.51 as compared against $1,200,189.1 for the same day last year. This decrease is a record; and when the figures were set before this prominent banker for explanation, all he had to say was, "Well, its one of the signs of the times I guess."

Fatal Accident to Boy—Robert Kapelle, son of Otto Kapelle of Bingham, was run over Monday afternoon by a heavy, four-horse wagon, which passed over his stomach. The child was immediately carried for, and everything done to save his life, but the internal injuries were so serious and he died at 2 p.m. yesterday.

Funeral of E. G. Crowther—The body of Edward G. Crowther, who was killed at Belmont, Idaho, on Oct. 14, was arrived this morning, overland by short line. Funeral services will be held over the remains tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Fifth Ward meeting house. Remains may be viewed at 4:15 p.m. Sixth South street from 11 to 1 o'clock.

Fair Day Tomorrow—A very weak "low" barometer has reached this county from the Gulf of California, with another weak "low" pushing down from the north. But with "highs" on either side the conditions for a storm are wanting, although the temperature is being lowered. This afternoon the increasing chill is quite marked. The predictions are for fair weather tomorrow. There was little or no precipitation over the country yesterday.

Don't go ungloved

Custom, as well as comfort, decrees that men on the street should wear gloves.

Good judgment recommends these makes of gloves we sell.

Hood's Pills

Act on the liver and bowels, cure biliary, constipation, morning and sick headache, break up colds, relieve uncomfortable fullness after dinner. Painless cathartics. 25c

Peptiron

Ironize the blood, tone, digest, and give restful sleep. Especially beneficial in nervousness and asthma. Chocolate-coated, pleasant to take. Two tablets 50c and $1. Druggists or mail. C. L. GOOD CO., Lowell, Mass.

WILL OBSERVE FOUNDER'S DAY

Latter-day Saints University Will Celebrate Event Tomorrow With Fitting Program.

The Latter-day Saints' university will celebrate Founder's Day tomorrow. Following is the program:

MORNING.

Singing
Prayer
Music
Words of Welcome—President Willard Young.

Music
Historical sketch—John Henry Evans.

Oration—R. S. Hinckley.

Music
Reading—Margaret Caldwell.

Remarks—President Anton H. Lund.

MUSIC.

AFTERNOON.

Basketball game between members of faculty and numbers of school.

Flag rush between 50 members of high school and 50 members of business college.

Two-hour between members of high school and business college.

Relay race between girls of high school and girls of business college.

EVENING.

A ball in the Lion House and the gymnasium.

SALT LAKE SUFFERS $250,000 FIRE

(Continued from page one.)

can't do anything for those animals—that's what hurts. That's what cut last night. People rushed around while the bus was moving. What are you going to do?" How did I know—I wanted time to think and I couldn't hear or see anything, but Paul and the lot of those noble youths going to a horrible death. Today I am beginning to look ahead; it is no time to over spilled milk." Time is money and we are right now and not a moment is going to be lost in trying to get the results of last night's catastrophe and start anew. I want to say and I want you to say that those persons who have come to me or telephoned me and spoken an encouraging word do not realize how much I appreciated it—not how much good it did when I was encouraged.

First there are but few and better, how large, small—have such a pathetic side as last night's affair. When talking about his loss in thousands of dollars was hopeful and apparently thinking of the future only, but when he came to tell of the death struggles of his horses—the finest in the stable—tires filled his eyes and he could hardly go on.

BIG CROWDS PRESENT.

The alarm came into the department just as the streets were thronged with after-theater crowds. As the various departments rushed towards the scene hundreds of people started pell-mell behind them. When the engineers and other equipment arrived the ground was already 300 or more persons flocking into the center of the block. It is a great wonder no one was hurt or killed because the alleys and narrow streets leading to the burning buildings were choked with the ever-present headlines, curries, and crowds, crowded closely together and the entire block was surrounded by them; women were scattered throughout the spectators and as the animals in the burning barns squealed with fright and pain, they turned away horrified. This morning saw men, women and children wading through the wet ashes and debris to get a peep at the burned carcasses and wreckage.

REGARDING THE RESPONSE.

A story in wide circulation this morning had it that so many persons tried to notify the department at once that the "central" shut off, determined to learn the exact location of the fire before calling the department, thus eliminating the likelihood of useless run. This would have consumed a minute or two, owing to the excitement of the moment. The other story said the alarm seat in simply said "Redman's on fire," and the department ran to West Temple, where the company's offices are located, before getting the location. Chief Wall, while directing the action at the scene, is quoted as saying,

"The alarm came in all right, but we did not lose a second getting here."

A number of the men still at work among the debris this noon had been on their feet since 11 o'clock last night. Fresh men went round to relieve them. The hungry, covered with dirt and dripping wet, the boys came up to town to buy little dry, clean clothes and get around a greatly needed square meal.

LOST PRICELESS RELICS.

One citizen, who lost severely by the fire is Harry Clay Browne, who lost household goods valued at $2,000, and household on which no money value can be placed, for no amount of money can be given to him.

He gave a list of old relics which were presented to Mr. Hinckley, who, after whom he was named. There were also articles which had been handed down from past generations for over 200 years, several of which belonged to an ancestor of M. Browne's, when he was postmaster of Dublin, Ireland, about a century ago. A number of articles which are antiques of his etc. also. Mr. Browne has been laid up with rheumatism, and I was just able to get out this morning to see the ruins. He was not insured.

PRIEST JOHN R. WINDER.

Elder John R. Winder of the presiding bishopric's office was the first speaker. He spoke of his association with Gen. Burton since arriving in this association, he said, he had learned to love and esteem the departed and few men, he declared, are dearer to his heart. For his love, his mortal nature, his generosity and charity, Bishop Miller said he had come to him above all others in his estimation. He was a man of great integrity and a man of God, he said.

President Smith then expounded the doctrine of the faith, speaking of the principles revealed through the instrumentality of God concerning the capacity of man and woman, of which the world knows little, he said. He said that it has been revealed to us that we are here for a purpose—that we are here to receive the knowledge he received of God of the truth of the gospel, of the dignity of the mission of Joseph Smith all may live fresh in the minds of those who knew him and to whom his words shall descend.

"Perhaps there are hundreds here who could speak fervently of the excellent life of Bishop Burton, and if the time would permit we should be delighted to hear their testimonies of his life and character. I know that there are thousands who are not here who could do so."

"He knew the Prophet Joseph Smith and when he testified to the divinity of his mission on earth he knew what he was saying, and he knew it was true. No man ever lived more consistently to his profession of faith in this life than he has known him all his life. It seems to me he informed me that he had known him all his life and he was not familiar with him I crossed the plains the same year he did. His life in Utah he has been a prominent figure in life before my eyes," said he.

"In the service of our Lord he was prompt in his testimony of the truth of the gospel, of the dignity of the mission of Joseph Smith all may live fresh in the minds of those who knew him and to whom his words shall descend.

"He spoke of the words of the savior, 'Whomsoever God hath joined together let not man put asunder.' He was a steward and noble son of God. He was ever brave and unflinching in the cause of a man of integrity to his friends and neighbors. He was a man of God, a man of God, he said.

"Bishop Miller said that his testimony of the truth of the gospel was gained in great measure from that of Gen. Burton. Elder Winder declared that he could not rise, though the loss of a father and brother was rending his heart, to speak of his own suffering. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and the resurrection and exaltation of the soul are the gifts of God to him. They are as eternal as the immortal soul and death, nor for anything else can we put them aside. These blessings have been sealed upon him and the promise that he shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, in the body he now wears, he said.

"The principles of eternal life and